GENEALOGY OF THE PARKE FAMILY

NINE GENERATIONS FROM ARTHUR AND MARY PARKE

1720-1920

PREFACE

It is an ordinary occurrence to hear the politician, who aspires to gain votes for himself and friends, to treat with ridicule the genealogist. He thinks it pleases the common people. The pedigrees of horses, dogs and fancy pigeons he admits have a cash value. And yet far more important for the student of human affairs are the pedigrees of men. By no possible ingenuity of legislation can a society made up of ruffians and boors be raised to the intellectual and moral level of a society made up of well-bred merchants and yeomen, parsons and lawyers. One might as well expect to see a dray horse win the Derby.

In offering this Historic Genealogy of our branch of the American Parke family to my kindred, I do it with the assurance that my story is far from complete. Our kinsmen, many of them, in their vernacular—went back or over the mountain in the early days and esteemed it their duty to make, not to write, history. No previous effort appears to have been made toward writing a Parke history, though there are living today members of the ninth generation from Arthur and Mary Parke. Although this work may be crude and imperfect, the compiler felicitates himself that his kindred are not without a history. I most cordially thank my many relations for their very great assistance.

Key to the Characters Representing Each Generation from Arthur and Mary Parke

First generation is represented by a large number, as 1, 2, 3, etc.

Second generation is represented by a small number as 1 2 3 4 5

Third generation is represented by a large capital letter in bold black type, as A, B, C, etc.

Fourth generation is represented by a large capital letter in light face type, as A, B, C, etc.

Fifth generation is represented by small letter, bold face type, as a, b, c, etc.

Sixth generation is represented by a small letter, light face type, as a, b, c, etc.

Seventh generation is represented by letter in parentheses, as (a), (b), (c), etc.

Eighth generation, no symbol.

Ninth generation, four children, whom I shall name.

PARKE FAMILY HISTORY

The descendants of Arthur and Mary Parke are of Saxon-Scotch origin whose ancestors immigrated into Ballybegley, County Donegal, Ireland, after 1610. Their name was originally written Park but some one during the early lifetime of Joseph Parke, Esq., the second son of John (1), introduced the present method of writing the name. 'Squire Parke had eleven children who all used this method, which, of course, helped to introduce it. The two brothers of Joseph Park, Esq., Arthur 2d and John 2d, never changed the spelling of their names and those who removed west still adhere to the old Park. However, the many descendants in Chester County of John 2d and Arthur 2d, have for years surrendered to the wheels of progress.

In 1720 our branch of the Parke family consisted of William, Arthur, Samuel, David and Jane Parke. All, perhaps, were married, with families, except Jane, who always lived with her brother, Arthur Parke. William Parke married Jane Hood, daughter of John Hood, the mathematician. They had eight children and always resided in Ireland.

1. John Parke.

2. Samuel, who was drowned during a storm on Lough Levithy.

3. Robert Hood Parke, the father of twelve children: John, the Fagg's Manor school teacher; Elizabeth, who died in infancy; Robert, Jr., Madaline, John Percivan, Ethel C., Hessie, Annie, Samuel, Elizabeth, William and James Parke.

Of these children, Robert Jr., had a daughter, Alice, who married a man by the name of Ewing, and they had five children. Their uncle, John Parke, the first child of Robert Hood Parke, Jr., made his will on June 20, 1818, leaving these children $6300 and a farm in Luzerne County, of 187 acres, with instructions to his executors "to inter his body in Fagg's Manor Cemetery beside my friends, with a decent grave stone, inscribed with the year of my birth, 1747, and that I lived to instruct, as teacher of youth, three generations of children." He left a legacy to the Treasurer of the Presbyterian General Assembly, for the teaching of young Indians to read the Scriptures and one to the son of Mrs. McCarter who had lost a leg. This David McCarter was a teacher in schools managed by Rev. James Latta, Pastor of Upper Octoraro Church. He afterward became a Presbyterian Clergyman and lived and died in Columbus, Ohio.

This John Parke gives his residence as in Upper Oxford Township, Chester County, Pa., near Russellville. His will was witnessed by his 2d cousin, John Parke, 2d, and by his two sons, Arthur (3) and John (3), of what is now Highland Township, Chester County, Pa., descendants of Arthur and Mary Parke.

4. Martha H. McKay No children.

5. Jane Parke married Thomas Crocket, nine children: William Y., Henry, Janie, Samuel, Margaret, James, Ezekiel, Robert and Thomas Parke.

6. Margaret Montgomery had four children: Robert, William, John, a physician, and Margaret.

7. Mary Parke, unmarried.

8. William Parke had four children: E. J. Alexander, William H., Matilda McKay and Margery. Old William Parke, of Ballybegley, County Donegal, Ireland, was a child at the time of the siege of Derry in 1690 and narrowly escaped being slain by a French officer in King James' army.

I quote the above data from a typographical family record sent to Samuel R. Parke, about 1895, by J. J. Elder, of Woodstock, New Brunswick, who claims to be a great, great, great grandson of old William Parke through a branch of this family which located in New Brunswick, Canada, in 1834, from whom the most of our early Parke history has been obtained. The Ballybegley homestead remained in the Parke family until quite recently. The last owner was a Samuel Parke.

Arthur and wife, Mary Parke, and sons, Joseph, John and Samuel, and Margaret who married William Noblitt, Arthur's sister, Jane, and her brothers, David and Samuel, with their families, removed to Fallowfield Township, Chester County, Pa., about 1720. Arthur Parke died in the latter part of January, 1739, and his wife, Mary died about 1760. At the head of his grave in Octoraro Cemetery is a memorial stone, legible within the writer's recollection. Mr. and Mrs. Noblitt with their three daughters, Annie, Margaret and Agnes, after 1740, removed to northern Georgia and there made their permanent home. Samul R. Parke, while visiting the Atlanta, Ga., Exhibition in 1894, called on Robert Parke, a descendant of Joseph Parke, son of Arthur and Mary, who interested himself in getting temporary possession of an ancient book containing the Noblitt genealogy from the days of Arthur and Mary Parke, prized most highly by the Noblitts of the present generation. A cursory reading indicated many descendants.

Arthur Parke in his will devised his land estate to his two sons, Joseph and John Parke, subject to payment of legacies to the other heirs. The two sons divided the real estate between them, Joseph taking the southern part, about 250 acres, with the improvements, entailed by a lifetime residence there of his mother and Aunt Jane. John took the northern part of 300 acres without improvements of much value. Joseph resided at the time and for some time after the death of his father on his father's farm along the Susquehanna River, then occupied his Fallowfield estate for a time and afterward removed to South Carolina. His mother and Aunt Jane both dying about 1760, he returned and sold his property in Chester County, Pa. During the Revolutionary War, his property in South Carolina was very much damaged and his son, John Arthur Parke, was killed in battle; so wrote George, son of Joseph Parke, to his cousin, Arthur Parke (2), in 1783. Joseph Parke's three remaining sons, discouraged by the losses sustained in the war, removed to Louisville, Kentucky. Robert Parke, after a short sojourn there, returned to Chester County, Pa., and died November, 1797. Culbertson Parke went to what is now Cincinnati, Ohio, and his offspring is supposed to be found in Indiana and Ohio. George Parke remained in Kentucky, married a Miss Coombs and left descendants. One of them, George Arthur Parke, of Louisville, Kentucky, so reports in an effort to find his Chester County kindred. There is a tradition that Arthur Parke was an elder in a Presbyterian Church in Ireland and with his kindred who came over with him about 1720 formed the nucleus for the organization of the Upper Octoraro Church which was founded on that date. In 1720, Rev. David Evans, a Welsh Presbyterian divine, was sent as a supply by the Presbytery of New Castle to Upper Octoraro Church, Great Valley, Brandywine Manor and Conestoga, where he was to preach one fourth of his time to each church.

The following year he reported to the Presbytery, that with the exception of Brandywine Manor, he had carried out their instructions. The Rev. Adam Boyd, who was the first regular pastor of this church, had a call extended to him for his services, prosecuted before Presbytery by Elders Cornelius Rowan and Arthur Parke on September 14th, 1724, and was ordained and installed in this church on the 13th day of October, 1724.

The Parke family are not Irish but of Saxon-Scotch origin. In 1611, James I began the experiment of sending from Scotland a Presbyterian company of picked men and women of the best sort, of a far higher level of intelligence and training than the native peasantry of Ireland, in order that they might outnumber and control the Catholics. At the beginning of the eighteenth century the percentage of illiteracy in Ulster Province, North Ireland, was probably smaller than anywhere else in the world. There were then more than a million of these Presbyterians in Ulster. About 1720, they began coming in great numbers to America, being dissatisfied with their Irish home on account of excessive taxes and rents.

The families that had been longest in Ireland had dwelt there then but three generations, so that they were called Scotch-Irish by us from the mere fact of their having this transient residence there and have always been called Scotch by all the people of Ireland, both Catholics and Protestants.

Between 1720 and 1770 more than half of the Presbyterian population of Ulster came to America and formed more than one-sixth of the entire population at the time of the Declaration of Independence. The ethnic origin of the Saxon-Scotch people is very different from the Celtic origin of the Irish race. The Scotch were principally Saxon in blood and Presbyterian in religion; the native Irish Celtic in blood and Roman Catholic in religion. The friction and antagonism of the Scot and Celt in the early days was not so much a religious as a racial inheritance.

No nobler race of men have ever lived than the Presbyterian Scot descended from the Anglo-Saxon immigration of about A. D. 500 to 800. The Scotch, "in energy, enterprise, intelligence, education, patriotism, religion and moral character, the maintenance of civil and religious liberty, and inflexible resistance to all usurpation in church and state were not surpassed by any class that settled in the American Colonies." George Washington, in the midnight hour of the Revolution, expressed his determination, if all other sources failed, to make his last stand among the Scotch and the Scotch-Irish on the frontiers.

Arthur and Mary Parke were the parents of four children, namely:—

1 Joseph Parke, who married Alice Culbertson. They had at least four children.

2 Margaret Parke married William Noblitt and had three children at the time of their emigration to Georgia.

3 Samuel Parke, who died prior to 1740, was married and survived by children.

Arthur Parke, in his will commends the care of these children to his executors. Samuel resided near Boston, Mass., so the late Dr. Charles Parke, of Bloomington, Ill., records.

4 John Parke died July 28, 1787, in his 81st year; m. Elizabeth McKnight, who died May 21, 1794, in her 82nd year. They had nine children, of whom Arthur 2nd, Joseph and John, the three eldest, remained in Chester County and owned their farms. The fourth son, William, removed to York County, Mary and Jane to Mifflin County. Elizabeth married David Cowan and lived near Sadsburyville, Chester County, Pa. David lived in Philadelphia, Pa., and is called a trader by his nephew and executor, John G. Parke. Samuel, the ninth and youngest, died in early life. Of these children I am able to give a nearly complete genealogy of only the descendants of Arthur 2nd, Joseph and John Parke, who, with their many offspring, mostly remained in Chester County.

affection. He was, as were all his kindred of all the early generations of which we have any knowledge, a strict and loyal Presbyterian. He was an elder of Octoraro Church for 44 years, and was born September 12, 1736, and died July 11, 1822; m. Jennet Hope, b. June 6, 1736; died April 4, 1814. She was a daughter of Thomas Hope, who died Oct. 24, 1776, in his 75th year, and Jennet Hope, who died Dec. 9, 1771, in her 70th year, and who lived on the Valley road between Pomeroy and the city of Coatesville, Pa., where lived Mrs. Mary Hope, who d. March 27, 1919, wife of the late Thomas Hope, who d. March 10, 1904, and was their great great grandson.

Thomas and Jennet Hope had eight children: Margaret, who married Robert Cowan, son of Hugh Cowan; Catherine, who married James Cowan, also a son of Hugh Cowan; Agnes, who married Robert McPherson, son of John McPherson; Sarah, who married Thomas Scott, son of John Scott; Jennet, who married Arthur Parke, 2nd, mentioned above; Robert, who married in May, 1795, Hannah Heslep, daughter of Thomas Heslep; Adam, who married in April 1805, and died in September, 1807; Richard, who married Elizabeth Wilson, daughter of Joseph Wilson. Hugh Cowan, father of the above Robert and James and of Elizabeth, who married David Parke, and David Cowan, who married Elizabeth Parke, removed from Derry County, Ireland, with his three brothers, John, David and William Cowan, and located in Sadsbury Township, in 1720. He was an elder of, and represented the Octoraro Church in Presbytery in 1730, and died Jan. 13, 1782. His first wife, Ann Cowan, died March 17, 1734. Hers is the oldest recorded interment in Octoraro Cemetery. Hugh Cowan's brothers, David and William, married Mary and Susanna Fleming, only daughters of William Fleming, the founder of this branch of the Fleming family in Chester County, Pa. Hugh Cowan appears to have been the pioneer founder of the Sadsbury branch of the Cowan family. By his first wife he had two sons: 1st, John, who died March 15, 1748, aged 21 years, unmarried; 2nd, James, died October 1, 1751, aged 27 years; married Catherine Hope, daughter of Thomas and Jennet Hope. Hugh Cowan then married Mary Scott and had children: 3rd, Robert, m. Margaret Hope, a sister of Catherine, James' wife; 4th, Joseph, m. Mary, daughter of John Scott, Sr.; 5th, Mathew, m. Rachel Gray; 6th, David, m. Elizabeth, daughter of John Parke, 1st; 7th, Ann and 8th, Hannah, never married; 9th, Margaret, m. Robert Cowan; 10th, Elizabeth, m. David Parke, son of John, 1st.

The following are the descendants of Arthur 2nd. and Jennet Hope Parke, ten children:

d Anna Landis Jefferis, b. July 11, 1850; m. Passmore W. Hoopes, Sr., Feb. 11, 1869. He died Sept. 6, 1915. Passmore W. Hoopes, Sr., was born April 19, 1840, in West Goshen Township, Chester County, Pa. He was a son of Lewis P. and Mary H. Hoopes. He attended Pennsylvania State College and was a member of the class of 1862. He went to Laurel to take charge of the farms of the late Hugh E. Steele, and later located on the old Scattergood farm, in East Bradford. Afterwards the family came to West Chester, where Mr. Hoopes became superintendent of Marshall Square, continuing in that position nearly 14 years, and retiring when he was unable to perform its duties. During the Civil War he enlisted in Company A., 1st Pennsylvania Reserves, and served on the staff of General McCall as guard, and also as provost guard at Fredericksburg. He was in the battles of Gaines Mill and Antietam, and was taken prisoner at Bethesda Church and served in Libby and Andersonville prisons for six months, until July 21, 1864. Fifty years after the war he and a former comrade, Sobescus Cromleigh, of Parkesburg, Pa., were sent by the United States Government to Andersonville as Chester County guests of honor at ceremonies on the old scene of their former privations. Anna and Passmore Hoopes, Sr., had eight children:

Judge Charles I. Landis was born in the city of Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 18, 1856, a son of the late Jesse Landis, Esq. He attended the common schools of the city and afterwards Franklin and Marshall College to the junior year. On the death of his father he left college, and for six months clerked in the office of Hager & Bro. He then began the study of law under D. G. Eshleman, Esq., and was admitted to the Lancaster Bar on Sept. 8, 1877, at the age of twenty years. In 1880 he was elected city solicitor and was elected again in 1882. He served on the School Board of the city for six years. On April 10, 1899, he was appointed by Gov. William A. Stone additional law judge as successor to the late Judge Brubaker, and afterwards, being nominated as candidate of the Republican party, was elected for a term of 10 years. Upon the retirement of Judge Livingston he was, on Feb. 13, 1904, commissioned as president judge. In the fall of 1909 he was elected for a second term. He has served as judge of the Second Judicial District for fifteen years and is the ninth president judge since the adoption of the constitution of 1790. He was president of the commission appointed to build the Thaddeus Stevens Industrial School and has ever since been president of the Board of Trustees. He is president of the A. h Howard Seltzer, died in childhood.

d Isaac Seltzer, Jr., b. 1838; d. Dec. 27, 1910. Unmarried.

Isaac Seltzer, Jr., nearly all his life was a farmer, and an intelligent one. Few men from the ordinary avocations of life could express themselves with such eloquence and intelligence as he. He could hold the undivided attention of a large audience without any previous preparation or apparent effort. He could speak with equal ease on the social, moral and political problems that interest the public of today, and how to cultivate the soil to produce the best result. Few men are as intensely religious as Isaac Seltzer was. He let no opportunity pass to attend religious meetings, and always took a prominent part. He was a good man, and has gone to his reward.

Mrs. Alfred Reid is the daughter of John and Ann Comly Bowman, and a granddaughter of John Comly, the author of the once celebrated Comly spelling book, so well known by many of us older people.

Few members of the Chester County Bar were as able and successful as Alfred P. Reid, who was born in Highland Township, Chester County, Sept. 3, 1842. He acquired his early education in the schools of Highland Township, the Parkesburg Academy and Wyer's Academy, West Chester, Pa., and Lafayette College, graduating from the latter institution in the class of 1864. He then pursued a course of legal study with the late Judge J. Smith Futhey. After passing a successful examination, he was admitted to the bar on Aug. 14, 1886. For a period of eight years he practised his profession in the company of Hon. Washington Townsend. After the dissolution of this connection he conducted his profession alone and had the most extensive practice in the county. Although his professional work demanded the greater part of his time, he devoted considerable time to educational and political affairs. He served as president of the Board of Trustees of the West Chester public schools, of the West Chester State Normal School, of the Penn Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of the Dime Savings Bank, of West Chester, and the First National Bank, of West Chester. He was formerly a member of, and from 1872, an elder in the First Presbyterian Church of West Chester, and in 1892 aided in organizing and afterwards was a member and served as elder in Westminster Church, of the same place.

(b) Belle Freeland Reid, b. April 2, 1874; d. March 22, 1916. Her funeral services were in charge of her pastor, Rev. F. M. Dowlin, who paid a beautiful tribute to the Christian character and useful life of the departed. He took for his text: "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." He spoke of her work in the Presbyterian Church, of which she was a member, her zeal and enthusiasm in all its interests and activities, and particularly of her influence with the young people with whom she loved to work and to which work she was most admirably adapted. The large number of young people present, many of whom had come from a distance, bore silent testimony to the love and esteem in which she was held, and that they owed much to her influence in the early years of their lives and felt their later years strengthened and broadened by her counsel and encouragement.

Having given brief sketches of the Fleming, Gardner and Stewart families, on account of their many intermarriages with the Arthur Parke descendants, it remains to trace the lineage of the Scotts, who also quite numerously intermarried with the Parke descendants. John Scott was the American founder of this branch of the Scott family. His name appears among the taxables of 1753, of Sadsbury Township. He owned large tracts of land a short distance west of the present city of Coatesville. The large old stone house where John Scott and his grandson, John Scott, Jr., lived and died, still stands, a silent memorial and witness of the past. This family, with their many descendants, were always people of the highest standing and respectability.

David L. Smith was a member of Company A, Second Virginia Volunteers, of which he was elected first lieutenant.

ant. He was promoted to lieutenant-colonel and aide-de-camp on the staff of General Meade, of the Fifth Army Corps, in the Civil War, and was discharged March 16, 1866, after a service of four years and ten months. He served as a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives for two terms. In 1870, Colonel Smith was elected alderman in Allegheny City and held the position until 1881, when, having married Mrs. Armstrong on March 7, 1880, they removed to Chester County, Pa., and occupied a farm they had purchased from Isaac N. Haines, then of Pomeroy, Pa. Colonel and Mrs. Smith devoted all the tact and energy they possessed to the selling of building lots and the upbuilding of the then small town of Pomeroy, about which lay their farm land. They met with such success that very little of their farm remained to them at the time of their decease.

g Enoch Ambrose Wallace, b. March 8, 1848; d. July 6, 1850.

Here ends the issue of John and Margaret Parke Wallace.

E Arthur Parke, 2nd and Jennet Parke had a daughter, Mary, who m. in 1790, John McClellan, third child of Mary Lindsay and Samuel McClellan. They resided on a farm now owned by the heirs of the late Nathan Maule, adjoining on the west side, the farm of Samuel McClellan, his father. Mary Parke McClellan was the grandmother of Rev. John L. Witherow. John McClellan d. Nov. 5, 1813, in his 47th year and his wife, Mary, d. March 4, 1841, in her 75th year. In 1822 and 1823 an extensive revival of religion took place in the Upper Octoraro Church. It was greatly promoted by a female prayer meeting usually held at the house of Aunt Polly McClellan, as she was generally called. By the fruits of this revival 124 persons were added to the church membership. This inscription I find on her tombstone in Upper Octoraro Cemetery:

"Mrs. McClellan, as a mother, was affectionate and faithful; as a companion, attractive and instructive; as a friend, sincere and unchanging; as a Christian meek, humble and fervent in spirit. She was active in organizing and conducting the several revivals of religion in the Church of which she was a most useful and beloved member. She was one of a lovely band of females who established the first female prayer meeting in the church. Mary has chosen that good part which shall not be taken from her."

They had five children who lived to adult age:

A Samuel Parke McClellan, b. Oct. 10, 1791; d. May 21, 1856; m. Maria Ferree, who d. March 20, 1864, in her 65th year. They had no children.

Samuel Parke McClellan succeeded his father, John, in the ownership of the old homestead, which he willed to his nephew, S. Parke McClellan, Jr. He also willed a legacy of $1250 to Upper Octoraro Church, which materially aided in the erection of the present manse of the church.

B Mary McClellan, d. 1864; m. July 11, 1825, Malcolm Leech, d. April 13, 1862. They removed, after their marriage, to Pittsburgh, Pa.

a Genevieve Witherow.

Rev. John Lindsay Witherow was born near Lenover, Pa., and spent his early years on his father's farm. The early loss of his parents threw him upon his own resources. He received a preparatory education in the Tuscarora Academy, Juniata County, Pa., and the Media Classical Institute, Delaware County, Pa. Graduated from Princeton College in 1860, and Princeton Theological Seminary in 1863. Was licensed by the New Castle Presbytery while still in the seminary. He became pastor of the Abington Presbyterian Church, near Philadelphia. Five years later he became pastor of the famous Arch Street Church, where he remained five years. His next pastorate was the Second Church, of Indianapolis, and it was while he was there that he received a call from the Park Street Church, of Boston, Mass., and entered on his pastorate in 1876. His success in reviving this church caused wide comment. Ten years later he accepted a call to the pastorate of the Third Presbyterian Church, of Chicago, Ill., where he remained for 12 years. Strife then breaking out in the Park Street Church at Boston, where he had been pastor ten years, Dr. Witherow was appealed to return, which he did in September, 1898. The Park Street Congregational Church was the only church of other than the Presbyterian faith that Dr. Witherow ever presided over, and while there he addressed in annual sermons the great missionary societies with which the church was affiliated. While serving as pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, in Chicago, Dr. Witherow assumed the presidency of the great Presbyterian Hospital there. In 1895 he was the moderator of the General Assembly of the Prsbyterian Church of America. The following year he presided over a distinguished committee, of which President Harrison, Chief Justice Harlan and other eminent civilians were members, and which was charged with the dispatch of important business of the denomination. Two years before his decease failing health compelled him to serve as pastor-emeritus, his congregation refusing to accept his resignation. He died in the 74th year of his age and the twentieth year of his pastorate over the Park Street Church.

C Maria Patton, b. March 19, 1803; d. in 1880; m. Sept. 1, 1828, Levi Chamberlain, b. Aug. 28, 1792; d. July 29, 1849.

Mr. Chamberlain was born in Dover, Vermont, Aug. 28, 1792, and died aged fifty-seven years. His early life was spent with an uncle in Boston, Mass., by whom he was trained to the mercantile business. When of age he began this sort of work for himself with such success as to have the almost certain prospect of accumulating wealth. He became a member of the Park Street Church in 1818 and his heart was ever afterward drawn toward the gospel ministry. After consulting with judicious friends he gave up his mercantile business and commenced a preparatory course of study in the academy in Andover, Mass., for the ministry. Indications of the disease that ultimately proved fatal, along with the exigency of the missionary work, led to a change in his life plan. Placing his little property where its avails would help forward the cause of missions, he accepted an invitation to join the first reenforcement of the mission to the Hawaiian Islands and arrived in Honolulu April 27, 1823. He entered upon his new labors with a self devotion which never wavered. He brought to his work a vigorous mind, a sagacious judgment, a body, though frail, exceedingly active and efficient, and a spirit supremely devoted to his Redeemer and the good of his fellow men. His toils were incessant and perplexing, but he shrank from no sacrifice, no self-denial. He was ready to take the lowest place, the poorest fare, the hardest toil; ready to be a hewer of wood and drawer of water in building the temple of the Lord on those then heathen islands. The range of his mind was by no means restricted to the secular concerns of the mission. His correspondence with his brethren of the mission and his patrons at home touched on almost every vital interest, and was truly wonderful in its quantity, its matter and the neatness and accuracy of its execution. Long and wearisome days he devoted to the examination of native schools, and being himself proficient in penmanship he took pleasure in imparting the art to the more advanced of the native pupils. Mr. Chamberlain's experience, judgment and piety gave him influence with his brethren as a counsellor. He leaned to the side of self-denial, prudence and caution. His opinions were frankly and kindly expressed. The Hawaiian Mission suffered a great loss on July 29, 1849, by the death of Levi Chamberlain who, for twenty-six years was the senior superintendent of its secular affairs. Probably no man has lived on those islands who was more generally respected and beloved. As a husband, as a father, as an agent entrusted with great responsibilities, as a member of the mission and the foreign community he was the same conscientious, devoted Christian. Levi and Maria Patton Chamberlain had eight children:

a Warren Chamberlain, b. July 17, 1829; d. Dec. 8, 1914; m. Celia Penninah Wright, b. April 2, 1854. Five children.

Warren Chamberlain, who was eighty-five years of age, died at the residence of his son, W. W. Chamberlain, on Spencer Street, Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands. He was the oldest son of Levi Chamberlain, born in Kawaiahao, in a grass house, July 17, 1829. In the year 1836, when but seven years old, in company with a younger brother, he was sent around Cape Horn in a whaling ship to New England to be educated. On the opening of Williston Seminary, in Easthampton, Mass., in 1841, he entered that institution, which he attended for some years. In 1850 he returned to the Islands and engaged in grazing and agricultural pursuits at Waiialua. He was a pioneer sugar planter in that district. He was, in 1870, in the statistical bureau of the custom house in Honolulu, and served there for thirty years, retiring at the age of seventy-one years. These are his five children:

a Althea Chamberlain, b. March 3, 1856; d. Jan. 29, 1875. Unmarried.

(b) Martha Osborn Aiken, b. April 13, 1903.

(c) Malcolm Chamberlain Aiken, b. June 28, 1911.

Reside at Makawao Maru, Hawaiian Islands.

Rev. James P. Chamberlain was born in the Hawaiian Islands in the old historic coral house eastward from Kawaiahae Church, in Honolulu. He was one of the band of missionary children whose attendance is noted at the opening of the Punahon School, in 1842. Later he attended the Royal School under the principalship of Rev. E. G. Beckwith. Leaving Honolulu in 1854, at nineteen years of age, he entered Williams College, Massachusetts, and from thence went to Bangor, Me., Theological Seminary. His first pastorate was in a mining town in California. Afterwards, for many years—more than thirty—he preached in the state of Wisconsin. About the year 1895 he moved to Eastern Oregon, where he took up a homestead of 160 acres at Mt. Vernon, Grant County. Rev. James P. Chamberlain, like his honored father, Levi Chamberlain, was a man of sterling Christian character. He died March 9, 1911, survived by his wife and two children, John Evarts Chamberlain, of Mt. Vernon, Oregon, and Mrs. Helen Aiken, of Makawao Maru, Hawaiian Islands.

h Edna Lillian Buchanan, b. 1883.

i Walter Clingan Buchanan; b. 1886.

On Dec. 24, 1914, the relatives and friends assembled at the home of the late Isaac Clingan Buchanan to pay the last tribute of affection to the memory of a man of unusual worth to the community where he resided. He was nearly seventy-eight years of age and was only sick from Friday evening to Sunday evening. Death was caused by heart failure. He had been spared to be the father of a large family of children, and his was the first death in it. Had he lived twenty-one days longer he could have celebrated with his faithful helpmate their golden wedding. He was long a member of the Pequea Presbyterian Church, was formerly a trustee and later an elder of the church.

b Martha Ann Buchanan, b. Feb. 3, 1843; resides in Honey Brook Borough, Pa.,

F Arthur Parke Patton, b. 1809; d. 1834. Unmarried.

This completes the record of the known descendants of Arthur 2d and Jennet Hope Parke.

<sup>2</sup> Joseph Parke, Esq., b. Dec. 21, 1737; d. July 2, 1823; the second son of John (1) and Elizabeth McKnight Parke, and grandson of Arthur and Mary Parke. He was a justice of the peace for many years, a member of the Assembly for six years, and progenitor of many and influential descendants. He married 1st Ann Grubb Sinclair, widow of George Sinclair, and daughter of Nathaniel Grubb, a member of the Assembly, trustee of the Loan Office, owner of considerable real estate in Philadelphia, and possessor of a large farm and mill property in Willistown Township, Chester County, where Mrs. John G. Parke was born and resided during her early years. Nathaniel Grubb married Ann Moore and they had eight children:

Ann Parke, Charity Calvert, Margaret Vernon, Phoebe Worrall, Samuel Grubb, Mary Grubb, Thomas Grubb and Nathaniel Grubb. These children were grandchildren of John and Frances Grubb, of near Chester City, Delaware County, Pa., where they resided as early as 1679. Joseph and Ann Grubb Parke had three children:

A John G. Parke, b. Nov. 21, 1761, d. Oct. 25, 1837; m. April 24, 1792, Jane Gardner, d. Oct. 14, 1832, in her 62d year. John G. Parke was a member of the Assembly in 1818, a justice of the peace for many years; was elected a ruling elder of Upper Octoraro Church, and was a prominent man in the community in which he lived. He was the owner of 200 acres of land through which the Pennsylvania Railroad was, in 1830, being constructed. He devoted all his energy to the building up a town on his estate, with what success is evidenced today by the borough of Parkesburg with its three thousand inhabitants. His wife, Jane Gardner, was a daughter of Dr. Joseph Gardner, born in 1752 and died in September, 1795, and Isabella Cochran, born in 1754 and died the same month as her husband. Both are buried at the head of Christine Creek, in Maryland. Joseph Gardner was one of the first graduates of the University of Pennsylvania. He was very popular as a physician and much esteemed socially. His field of practice extended from Honey Brook to Oxford, Pa. In the Revolutionary War he was an active man among the patriots of his county, and raised two companies of troops for the army, which were sent into the field. Dr. Joseph Gardner was the son of Francis Gardner, who came from Coleraine, Ireland, in 1733, and settled near the Beaver Dam in what is now Honey Brook Township, Chester County, Pa. Francis Gardner was a man of strong mind, sound sense and determined will, and was an active patriot during the Revolutionary War. His wife was a Wallace, and they had five children, Dr. Joseph, Andrew, John, Eleanor, and Francis, Jr. Dr. Joseph Gardner was a member of the Provincial Assembly for three years, and was chosen councilor in 1779. He was also a member of the Continental Congress in 1784-1785. He resided in West Caln Township, Chester County, on the farm of the late Richard McPherson, one mile north of Sadsburyville. Dr. Joseph and Isabella Gardner had three children:

<sup>2</sup> Dr. Francis Gardner, b. Jan. 19, 1773; d. Jan. 21, 1815; m., in May, 1797, Mary Hart. Studied medicine and graduated at the University of Pennsylvania. While his father remained in the county he assisted him in his extensive practice and afterward continued on his own account. His home was in Valley Township, where he died and was buried in St. John's Churchyard, in Compassville. They had five children, two sons and three daughters. The sons were Dr. Francis, Jr., and Thomas H. Gardner, late of Oxford, Pa. The latter married Eveline, daughter of John, Jr., and Elizabeth Witherow Cowan Fleming. They had five children: Frank, Mary, Elizabeth, Jennie and Alice. Of these, Frank Gardner m. Emma Roberts; Mary Gardner m. Robert A. Evans, of California, and Jennie m. Rev. Dr. William Bingham, of Oxford, Chester County, Pa., in 1886. She was born April 6, 1840, and died Jan. 14, 1893. Dr. Bingham was born in 1822 and died in 1902. He had been pastor of the Great Valley Presbyterian and Avondale Churches and a theological professor in Lincoln University.

<sup>3</sup> Robert Cochran Gardner, b. in 1781; d. in 1808, aged 27 years. He was captain of a merchant vessel and devoted several years to a sea-faring life.

The following are the six sons and their descendents of Jane Gardner and John G. Parke.

A Samuel Parke, Esq., b. May 6, 1795; d. April 28, 1859; resided and practiced law in the city of Lancaster, Pa. Unmarried.

B Joseph G. Parke, b. April 1, 1796; d. May 25, 1844. Unmarried.

C Francis G. Parke, b. Aug. 12, 1797; d. Feb. 21, 1860; m. March 13, 1823, Sarah Hart Gardner, b. Oct. 21, 1799; d. Feb. 6, 1848; daughter of Dr. Francis and Mary Hart Gardner, and granddaughter of Thomas and Mary Hart. They had five children:

a Isabella Cochran Parke, b. Dec. 15, 1823; d. Dec. 5, 1915; m. Andrew Mitchell. They had no children. Isabella C. Mitchell was a woman of marked characteristics, possessing a high sense of honor, a warm and generous spirit, together with a remarkably active mind and body. She enjoyed wonderful health for her years until a short time before her decease. Her life had been devoted to the families of her brothers and sisters, of whom she was the oldest and last survivor. Mrs. Mitchell ever remembered that she belonged to an old Presbyterian family, her grandfather, John G. Parke, having been one of the pillars of Octoraro Church. She always took a keen interest and active share in church work, ever lending a sympathizing ear to distress and substantial assistance to the needy.

b Francis G. Parke, b. Oct. 13, 1825; d. 1892; m. 1st Sarah E. Fleming, of Elverson, Pa., daughter of George and Sarah Perkis Fleming, b. Aug. 20, 1830; d. June 29, 1856. They had one child:

a Mary Frances Parke, who d. in 1911, and had married Henry J. Branson, Jan. 1, 1883, president of the Chester Valley National Bank, of Coatesville, Pa. They had six children:

- (a) Anna M. Branson.
- (b) Isabella P. Branson, m. Reagan Cartwright, of Phoenix, Arizona; b. 1884; d. Oct. 1, 1917.
- (c) Katherine F. Branson.
- (d) Edward H. Branson.
- (e) Sarah F. Branson.
- (f) Laura Branson.

All born in Coatesville, Pa.

Francis G. Parke m. 2d June 7, 1859, Mary E. Kerr.
Two children:

h Andrew K. Parke, b. May 12, 1863; resides at Oak Creek, Colorado.

c Francis Parke, b. Aug. 26, 1866; office manager of the Miller Paper Company, of Downingtown, Pa.; m. Jan. 30, 1901, Harriet Longley.

c General John Grubb Parke, b. Sept. 22, 1827; d. Dec. 16, 1900, was a soldier and civil engineer. He graduated at the United States Military Academy, West Point, July 1, 1849, and was assigned to the topographical engineers as brevet second lieutenant, and afterwards promoted to a captaincy. On Nov. 23, 1861, he was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers and was assigned to the command of a brigade in General Burnside's expedition to North Carolina, 1861-1862. He was in command at the capture of Fort Macon and received the brevet of lieutenant-colonel April 26, 1862, for his services. He was promoted to major-general of volunteers July 18, 1862. In the Maryland campaign of the Army of the Potomac he served as chief of staff of the Ninth Corps, being engaged in the battles of South Mountain Sept. 14, and Antietam Sept. 17, 1862, and in the pursuit of the Confederates to Warrenton, Va. When Gen. Burnside succeeded to the command of Army of the Potomac, Gen. Parke was retained as his chief of staff and took part in the battle of Fredericksburg, Dec. 13, 1862. He was in command of the Ninth Corps on the march to Vicksburg and was present at the surrender of that place July 4, 1863. He was engaged in all the operations of the Tennessee campaign, including the siege of Knoxville, and in the Richmond campaign of 1864 he participated in the battles of the Wilderness and Spottsylvania in command of a division. He was again in command of the Ninth Corps before Petersburg, and in all the subsequent operations of the Army of the Potomac, up to and including the surrender of General Lee at Appomatox. He received the brevet of colonel for gallant conduct at the capture of Jackson, Miss., and was promoted major in the corps of engineers June 17, 1864. On March 13, 1865, he received the brevet of brigadier-general of the United States Army for his successful repulse of the attack on Fort Stedman, Virginia. He became lieutenant-colonel of the corps of engineers March 4, 1879, and colonel March 17, 1884. He was superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point 1887-1889, and was retired July 2, 1889, at his own request. General Parke died in Washington, D. C., Dec. 16, 1900. He married June 5, 1867, Ellen Palmer, widow of Colonel Palmer (a topographical engineer who died in 1862) and daughter of George Blight, of Philadelphia, born Nov. 12, 1827, and died July 15, 1903. They had one daughter, Emily Blight Parke, b. Dec. 18, 1868; m. Oct. 26, 1897, Gracie K. Richards, and d. Aug. 11, 1899, leaving no surviving child. General Parke's family resided in Washington, D. C.

d Thomas Harte Parke, b. Nov. 30, 1829; d. May 13, 1876; m. Anna Maria Torbert. They had six children:

a Francis Torbert Parke, b. Oct. 18, 1855; d. May 31, 1857.

b Louis Hart Parke, b. June 22, 1858; m. Nov. 13, 1884, Eliza Graham McBride, of Philadelphia. Five children:

(a) James McBride Parke, b. Oct. 1, 1885; d. Oct. 5, 1885.

(b) Mary Dorothy Parke, b. March 5, 1887; d. Aug. 2, 1887.

(c) Louis Torbert Parke, b. Sept. 3, 1888; m. Elinor Dodsworth Parke, of Summit, N. Y. One child:

John Dodsworth Parke, b. Feb. 28, 1913.

(d) Charlotte Parke, b. July 8, 1891.

(e) Annette Parke, b. June 5, 1897.

c Sarah Gardner Parke, b. Oct. 21, 1859; d. March 23, 1873.

d Nettie Parke, of Farmington, Connecticut.

e John Grubb Parke, b. June 27, 1866; of Monessen, Pa.; m. Ella E. Frantz. Have one child:

(a) Frantz Torbert Parke, b. 1906.

f Annie T. Parke, b. May 12, 1869; d. June 19, 1879.

e Mary Hart Parke, b. May 17, 1833; d. Dec. 12, 1901;

m. Benjamin I. V. Miller, Oct. 17, 1855, who died in May 1875. They had four children:

a Guyon Miller, b. Sept. 19, 1856; m. Annie G. Tutton Oct. 9, 1879, who died Sept. 28, 1903. No children. Alexander P. Tutton, whose term under President Grant, of collector of the port of Philadelphia had just expired, organized with the assistance of his son-in-law in 1881 under the firm name of Guyon Miller & Co., the Downingtown Manufacturing Company for the manufacture of paper mill machinery. This company makes all kinds of paper mill machinery, and of such superior quality that they receive orders from all parts of the United States and Canada. Their extensive plant is situated on Washington avenue and they employ a regular force of about fifty hands.

b Frank P. Miller, b. Jan. 25, 1859; m. Sallie R. McIlvain Dec. 6, 1883. One child:

(a) Anna McIlvain Miller, b. Dec. 6, 1887.

Mr. Miller, in 1891, organized and had incorporated the Frank P. Miller Paper Co. which had been in existence since 1881. Since incorporation the capacity of the mill has been increased until it is now the largest of its kind in the United States, and they are building a $300,000 stone addition to their mill, on the opposite side of the road, on Brandywine Avenue. The increased demand for their product will necessitate doing this at once, and other kinds of paper and paper boards will be manufactured.

c Sarah G. Parke Miller, b. Feb. 24, 1866.

d Joseph G. Parke Miller, died in January, 1844, in infancy.

All the children of B. I. V. and Mary Hart Miller have always resided in Downingtown, Pa.

D Hon. Robert Parke, b. Oct. 26, 1799, d. May 20, 1883, was the fourth of the six sons of John G. and Jane Gardner Parke. Few men were as successful in business transactions as Judge Parke. By his good business tact he became for his day one of the wealthiest men in western Chester County. He was a member of the Legislature in 1843-45; was an associate judge of Chester Co. by appointment of Governor Pollock to fill an unexpired term in 1856, and was afterwards elected by the people for the full term of five years from December, 1858, to December, 1863. He was one of the organizers of the Parkesburg Bank in 1869; its first president for a term of four years, and ever afterward, until his decease, a director of the bank. Judge Parke was a man of kindly, genial, friendly disposition, a liberal contributor to his church and all good enterprises. He died possessed of the wealth and honors of this life like a shock of corn, fully ripe, in his 84th year. He never married.

E John Parke, b. March 9, 1802; d. April 6, 1865. Unmarried.

F David Parke, b. April 22, 1807; d. March 11, 1888; resided in the homestead mansion in Parkesburg, Pa., where his father, John G. Parke, lived and died. He was a farmer, possessed of over 375 acres of land. He married Mary Brandt, b. Aug. 31, 1819; d. July 2, 1906. Eight children:

a Col. John B. Parke, b. Oct. 22, 1839; d. Dec. 29, 1894. He was lieutenant-colonel of the Second Infantry, U. S. Army; m. Annette Lumbert. Two children:

a Louraine Parke, b. 1867; d. 1912; m. Nancy Lybby, of Salt Lake City, Utah. One child:

(a) David Parke, resides in the State of Nevada. Unmarried.

b William McCook Parke, b. March 27, 1869; d. Aug. 27, 1880.

b Joseph G. Parke, b. 1840; civil engineer; resides in Mexico; m. Bessie Rousseau. One child:

a Mary Brandt Parke. Resides in Washington, D. C.

c Mary Jane Parke, b. Sept. 7, 1842; d. Sept. 3, 1843.

d Sallie Frances Parke, b. 1844; m. Nov. 21, 1867, John D. Wilson, b. March 2, 1836; d. in 1909. One child:

a Douglass Wilson, b. March 17, 1881; civil engineer; m. Alice M. Houghton Noch; resides in Portland, Oregon.

e Emma Elizabeth Parke, b. 1846; m. J. Glen Fisler; b. Sept. 25, 1849; reside in Brooklyn, N. Y. Two children:

a Glen Parke Fisler, b. July 14, 1890.

b Helen Vernon Fisler, b. April 30, 1892.

f Isabella Parke, b. 1848; m. Samuel J. Torbert; b. 1840; d. March 3, 1880. Three children:

a Robert Parke Torbert, m. 1st Oct. 20, 1907, Margar-C. Power, of Alexandria, Va., who died Jan. 15, 1914. One child:

(a) Marian Isabella Torbert, b. May 28, 1911; m. 2nd

Blanche Irving Howdershell, of Washington, D. C., June 29, 1915.

b Warwick Miller Torbert, b. March 19, 1879, in Portland, Pa.; clerk in War Department.

b Mazie Torbert, d. in 1900; m. Anthony Tissowsky. Two children:

(a) Antoinette Tissowsky.

(b) Isabella Tissowsky. All Isabelle Torbert's family reside in Washington, D. C.

g Robert Parke, b. 1852; m. Mary Armstrong. Two children:

a Bessie J. Parke, b. 1878.

b Mabel Parke, b. 1882. All reside in New York City, N. Y.

h Samuel D. Parke, b. July 14, 1850; d. Oct. 30, 1918; m. in 1874, Mary C. Miller, a daughter of John P. Miller, of one of the oldest families of Reading, Pa. Three children:

a Catherine L. Parke, b. 1882.

b M. Elizabeth Parke, b. 1884.

c Eleanor Parke, b. 1887. All reside in Parkesburg, Pa.

B Joseph Parke, b. May 1, 1763, d. Dec. 1, 1802; son of Joseph Parke, Esq., and Ann Grubb Parke; m. in December, 1794, Jane Parke, b. in 1765. She was a daughter of Arthur Parke, 2d. They had three children:

A Nathaniel G. Parke, Joseph Parke, both of Nashville, Tenn., and John Parke.

C Kezia Parke, b. Jan. 24, 1767; d. July 21, 1842; m., in 1786, Colonel Joseph McClellan, b. April 28, 1747; d. Oct. 14, 1834.

Colonel McCellan was born in Middleton Township, Delaware County, Pa., the oldest of eight children of James, d. in February, 1793, and Martha McClellan, d. in November, 1793, who removed to Sadsbury Township, Chester County, about 1770. Joseph McClellan, inspired by an appeal of Rev. William Foster, then the pastor of Upper Octoraro Church, to the members of his church on their duty to enlist in the service of their country, delivered in the beginning of the year 1776, resolved to accept the advice. By the influence of friends he secured a lieutenancy in a company in command of Abraham Marshall, and on July 15, 1776, he was appointed a captain in the battalion commanded by Col. Samuel Atlee. He was afterwards transferred to the Ninth Regiment of the Pennsylvania line, to serve during the war. From the time of his enlistment until his resignation March 22, 1781, he was generally with the main army in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. He was in the battles of Long Isand, Brandywine and Monmouth. He was a man remarkably steady and temperate, a strict disciplinarian, and reliable in the performance of every duty. In 1784 Col. Joseph McClellan was elected a commissioner of Chester County. In 1786 he married Kezia, daughter of Joseph Parke, Esq. In August, 1790, he was elected lieutenant of Chester County, with the rank of colonel. In 1792 he was elected sheriff and in 1794, upon the outbreak of the Whisky Rebellion in western Pennsylvania, he promptly raised a volunteer troop of cavalry and led them to headquarters, ready for action. In 1797 Col. McClellan was elected a member of the State Senate and in 1814, on the establishment of the Bank of Chester County, he was elected its first president. Upon the visit of General Lafayette to the United States in 1824-1825, Col. McClellan was appointed chairman of a large committee to invite the nation's guest to visit the battle ground of the Brandywine.

In the Court House, in West Chester, he welcomed the distinguished veteran with these words: "General Lafayette, it affords us supreme pleasure that we have been chosen by our fellow citizens to greet you upon your visit to the scenes of your youthful gallantry on the banks of the Brandywine, and bid you a sincere and cordial welcome to the bosom of our country. Language indeed can but feebly portray the joyous and grateful emotions with which we behold amongst us, after a lapse of eight and forty years, the illustrious friend of human rights, who relinquished the endearments of his own domestic circle in a distant land to aid the fathers of our country in their struggle for independence, and who, on this ground, sealed with his blood his devotion to the cause of American liberty. In you, sir, we recognize with the profoundest respect and veneration the early, disinterested and steadfast champion of our Washington, our Wayne and their gallant compatriots in arms—the youthful volunteer who shared the toils of our fathers to secure the blessings of republican freedom to our land, and who, by the favor of Heaven, has been preserved to witness the happiness and receive the benediction of their grateful offspring."

This was the last appearance of Col. McClellan on a public occasion. He died on his Brandywine farm Oct. 13, 1834, after a short illness, in his eighty-eighth year. His body was interred in his father's grave in Octoraro Cemetery. Col. McClellan was a true soldier, a good citizen, a professing Christian and an upright man. On a stone at the head of his grave in Octoraro Cemetery is this inscription: "Here repose the remains of Joseph McClellan, born April 28, 1747, died October 14, 1834. An approved officer of the Revolution. An estimable and highly esteemed citizen. A sincere Christian. In life respected and venerated, in death lamented. In commemoration of his many virtues and public services this stone is erected by those who delight to cherish his memory." There is also a memorial stone erected to his memory in the Birmingham Lafayette Cemetery, where was fought the battle of Brandywine, in which he took an active part. He was survived by his widow and two children, with a number of descendants, "to cherish his memory, to inherit his enviable reputation, and emulate his noble example." The following were his four children:

A Ann McClellan, b. Aug. 25, 1787; d. Aug. 19, 1860; m. Dec. 5, 1804, William Hemphill, b. Dec. 6, 1776, d. Oct. 2, 1817. The Hemphills are of Scotch-Irish descent, and locate their Irish home in County Derry, 25 miles northeast of Londonderry, Ireland, from whence Alexander Hemphill, the founder of the West Chester Hemphill family, with his two sons, James and Joseph, and daughter, Mary, and her husband, John Fox, came to Edgemont, Delaware County, about 1740. Alexander afterward removed to his son, James Hemphill, who had located in Goshen Township, where the father died in 1768. James, his son, m. Dec. 26, 1750, Elizabeth Wills, b. Dec. 30, 1731, daughter of Thomas and Ann Wills, of Middletown. James bought a farm of 175 acres in Goshen in 1758 and lived on it until his death in 1809. He served as a township officer in both Edgmont and Goshen, and for 41 years was a trustee of the Middletown Presbyterian Church. The children of James and Elizabeth Wills Hemphill were James, Anna, Mary, Catherine, Elizabeth, Susannah, Peter, William and Alexander. William was born in Goshen Dec. 6, 1770, educated in the schools of West Chester and Wilmington, and in October, 1794, he was apprenticed to James Wilson, of Wilmington, to learn book-binding. Two years afterward he returned home and commenced to study law in the office of his cousin, Joseph Hemphill. In May, 1799, he was admitted to the Chester County Bar, and in November, 1803, he was appointed the deputy attorney general for the county, which office he held for five years. That he was one of the leaders of the bar is attested by the records of the courts of Chester County, his name appearing as counsel in almost one-third of the cases tried from 1805 to the time of his death. That he was a progressive citizen is shown not only by the fact that in front of his residence on High Street—where the Chester County Bank now stands—was laid the first brick pavement in the town, but also by the fact that he was the most energetic solicitor of funds and the largest contributor to the West Chester Academy, the normal school of that day, 1832. He was one of the organizers of the West Chester Fire Company in 1799, and was for several years its treasurer. He was prominent in the councils of the Federal Party and in 1811 became the candidate of that party for state senator, and though defeated by a small majority, he had the satisfaction of running well ahead of his ticket. Ann (McClellan) and William Hemphill had four children:

a James Alexander Hemphill, b. Oct. 5, 1805; d. Dec. 14, 1879. Unmarried.

b Joseph Hemphill, b. Dec. 7, 1807; d. Feb. 11, 1870; m. Nov. 22, 1841, Catherine Elizabeth Dallett, of Philadelphia, Pa., b. Feb. 14, 1811; d. May 13, 1878.

Joseph Hemphill, one of the foremost lawyers of his day, was prepared for his legal profession under the instruction of his brother-in-law, Hon. Thomas S. Bell. He was admitted to the bar in 1829 and engaged in active practice until his death, Feb. 11, 1870. He was devoted to his profession and brought to it talents of the first order. He served as deputy attorney general for Chester County from 1839 to 1845, and declined a re-appointment. In 1861 he was the Democratic nominee for the president judgeship of the Chester and Delaware County Judicial District, but was defeated by the Republican candidate. His death occasioned wide spread regret, and on the day of his funeral members of the local bar testified to their admiration for his character by the adoption of the following resolution, offered by Alfred P. Reid, Esq.: "That in the death of Joseph Hemphill the bar has lost one whose ability, acquirements and integrity adorned the profession; that in his love for and devotion to the law, in the scrupulous exactness and cheerfulness with which he accepted all its conclusions, his uniform courtesy and fidelity to the bench and bar, his brethren had an example which they cannot follow too closely; that his social qualities, urbanity and unselfish nature marked the perfect gentleman in all the relations of life; that in his death we all feel that we have lost a friend and brother; that his enlarged views and the keen appreciation of the character of the profession and his unwearying efforts, both by precept and example, to keep it up to the standard he had formed of it, have been felt in our midst, where he had for forty-three years been actively engaged in its duties."

Joseph Hemphill and Catherine Elizabeth Dallett had seven children:

a Joseph Hemphill, b. Sept. 17, 1842; m. Feb. 28, 1867, Eliza Ann Lytle, daughter of Colonel Edward H. Lytle, of Blair County, Pa.

Joseph Hemphill, in 1860, entered his father's office as a student of law, and on Oct. 31, 1864, having passed an excellent examination, he was admitted to the bar and soon afterward went into partnership with his father, which lasted until his father's death. From that time, till his elevation to the bench, he was a practicing attorney. He was elected in 1872 to the constitutional convention, and his services in that body, during that and the following year, were both conspicuous and useful. His valuable services in framing the State Constitution, his excellent judgment and well-balanced legal mind, his high standing at the bar, and his great personal popularity in the county, led the Democratic party, in 1889, to name him as its candidate for additional law judge, and in the fall of that year he was elected by a majority of thirty-two votes in a district that had for years been overwhelmingly Republican. Judge Hemphill took his seat Jan. 6, 1890, and in June, 1897, upon the death of Judge Wadell, he became president judge of the courts of Chester County. Upon the expiration of his term in 1899 he was nominated by the Democratic party for re-election, and was indorsed by every party in the county with a ticket in the field. In 1909, although opposed by a popular and energetic Republican candidate, he won without difficulty his third term, making an aggregate of twenty-five years and three months' service as judge and eighteen years as president judge. On account of his impaired health he resigned the judgeship Mar. 27, 1915, and died Oct. 29, 1916. Judge Joseph and Eliza Ann Lytle Hemphill had four children:

(a) Lily Hemphill.

(b) Dr. Joseph Hemphill, b. Dec. 11, 1869; m. Oct. 7, 1902, Ada Westlake Cornwell, daughter of Robert Cornwell, Esq.

(c) Edward Hemphill, who died in infancy.

(d) William Lytle Hemphill; d. Dec. 26, 1918, in his 44th year.

Chester County history contains no more highly honored name than that of Wilmer Worthington as physician, philanthropist, and statesman. It is to be said of him that he was a model physician, skillful, benevolent and sympathetic. Devoted to his patients, regardless of personal discomfort, he responded with alacrity to whatever call without regard to compensation. For three years, 1839-1841, he was physician at the Lazaretto. He was founder of the Chester County Medical Society. Prime mover in the organization of the State Medical Society, of Pennsylvania. Dr. Worthington was one of the editors of the Medical Reporter, was a director of the Bank of Chester County, of the West Chester and Philadelphia Railway Company, and president of the Board of Managers of Oakland Cemetery. He was elected, in 1833, to the Lower House of the State Legislature. In 1863 he was elected to the State Senate, and was re-elected in 1866. He was speaker in 1869. While serving as senator, Dr. Worthington was chairman of a senate committee appointed to visit the charitable and penal institutions of the state, and to inquire into the expediency of appointing a board of public charities. The report made by the committee was so clear and convincing that the board was appointed the following year (1870) and Dr. Worthington was appointed a member and soon afterwards was made general agent and secretary of the body. During the first year of his service in that capacity he traveled more than eleven thousand miles, and his report at the end of the year was a remarkably clear and comprehensive account of a majority of the prisons and almshouses of the State of Pennsylvania. Dr. Worthington and Elizabeth Hemphill had eight children:

a Dr. William Hemphill Worthington, Jr., d. 1865; was an army surgeon during the late Civil War; m. Phoebe Gheen.

b Ann Jane Worthington; m. 1st Henry B. Pepper, of Philadelphia. One child:

Thomas S. Bell, a distinguished jurist and lawyer, was born in Philadelphia, Oct. 22, 1800. He came to West Chester as a stranger, but soon came to be known as a capable lawyer and made rapid advancement in his profession and in public life. He was deputy attorney general for Chester County, 1823-1828; a member of the constitutional convention from the senatorial district of Chester and Montgomery Counties in 1837, and was re-elected to the State Senate in 1838, but was denied his seat on account of alleged errors in the election returns. In 1829 he was a member of the board of visitors to the West Point Military Academy. In 1839 he was appointed to succeed Judge Darlington as president judge of the Chester and Delaware Judicial District and served until 1846. He was appointed an associate justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in 1846 and served with ability and efficiency until December 1, 1851, when the tenure of office was changed by a new constitutional provision. In 1855 he became president judge of the judicial district comprising the counties of Wayne, Pike, Carbon and Monroe, and was a senator from Chester and Delaware Counties from 1858 to 1860. Judge Bell was twice married; first to Caroline, a daughter of Judge Darlington, and second to Kezia, a daughter of William Hemphill. He had five children by his last marriage:

a Captain William Hemphill Bell, who was a graduate of West Point and an officer in the United States Army.

b Colonel Joseph McClellan Bell, b. Nov. 21, 1836, in West Chester, Pa. In 1857 he crossed the plains to the then outpost territory of New Mexico as first assistant to Captain Edward Beale, chief engineer in charge of the expedition whose object was for the purpose of surveying the 35th parallel of latitude west from the Rio Grande to the Pacific Ocean. In December, 1861, in the beginning of the Civil War, he was commissioned first lieutenant under Colonel E. R. S. Canby and assigned to the command of Company I, Third United States Cavalry. The company saw its initial fight at Val Verde, New Mexico., April 1, 1862, and lost all its officers in this engagement except Col. Bell, who was wounded in the leg and chest. He served with the Army of Virginia under General Pope, taking part in the battle of Cedar Mountain, Sulphur Springs, Chantilly, Second Bull Run, and other engagements. He became adjutant general of the Military Division of the Missouri under General Pope. He married in January, 1866, Harriet McClure, of Milwaukee, Wis., at which event, declining a commission in the Regular Army, he resigned from the army in November, 1866, and embarked in the grain business in Milwaukee. Col. Bell was a man of great energy and activity and much moral courage. He was a social favorite of all who had the privilege of his more intimate acquaintance and his friends were found amongst all classes. Col. Bell died in March, 1895, survived by his wife and eight children:

c Colonel Thomas S. Bell, who, as lieutenant colonel, fell on the bloody field of Antietam, was born May 12, 1838, and killed Sept. 17, 1862. These sons of Judge Bell were distinguished officers in the United States Army.

William Fleming, the earliest member of this branch of the Fleming family in Chester County, was a native of Greenock, Scotland. Tradition is sponsor for the story that he had an uncle who, in the latter part of the seventeenth century, sailed as master of a ship from Greenock to the Eastern Shore of Maryland for tobacco and wheat and that William was induced to accompany his uncle on one of his voyages. When they arrived in the Chesapeake Bay it was harvest time and he went on shore, by the advice of his uncle to help farmers as it would take some time before their ship would be ready to make the return voyage. While thus employed the ship sailed without him, and he then learned that his uncle had indentured him as a servant to a farmer. William served his time out and then made his way to the settlements on the Delaware. Here he resided with an Englishman, Richard Moore, in Concord Township, now Delaware County, and married Mary, one of his daughters. In 1714 he removed with his family, consisting of his wife and eight children, John, William, Henry, George, James, Peter, Mary and Susanna, and settled in what is now the city of Coatesville, Pa. He built himself a home where is now located the Huston Brothers' iron mill. William Fleming died before 1733. James Fleming, the fifth son, was eleven

Coatesville, Pa. He built himself a home where is now located the Huston Brothers' iron mill. William Fleming died before 1733. James Fleming, the fifth son, was eleven years old when they moved to Coatesville; he died May 3rd, 1767, leaving a son, John Fleming, born 1731, died September, 1814. This John Fleming, known in after life as John Fleming, Sr., resided on a farm west of Coatesville city, where he erected a large stone house. This house is now owned and occupied by the family of the late Richard Strode. He was an officer in the Provincial service, a member of the State constitutional convention of 1776 to frame a constitution for Pennsylvania, and in 1778 he was one of the representatives from Chester County to the General Assembly. He was one of the patentees of the land belonging to the Upper Octoraro Church, of which he was a ruling elder for fifty-two years, from 1762. John Fleming, Sr., had a son, John Fleming, Jr., who was a wagon master in the army during the Revolutionary War, and was present at the battle of Brandywine. John Fleming, Jr., married twice; first Mary Slaymaker, who died April 5, 1797, in her 40th year, survived by three children: Mary, who married George Washington Parke, Esq.; Elizabeth, b. April 12, 1793, d. Dec. 22, 1860; m. Dr. William F. Mitchell, b. June 25, 1779; d. Sept. 6, 1826; and Henry Fleming, Esq., who married Letitia Parke. John Fleming m. 2nd Mrs. Elizabeth Witherow Cowan, widow of Adam Cowan. They had two children: George Fleming and Eveline Fleming, who married Thomas Gardner, of Oxford, Pa. George Fleming married 1st, Sarah Perkis, March 20, 1828, and had two children: Dr. John D. Fleming and Sarah E., who married Francis G. Parke. George Fleming married 2nd a Miss Henderson and 3rd Margaretta Parke, who had four children:

e George Parke Fleming, b. May 14, 1899; of Elverson, Pa.; m. June 2, 1917, Clara McCord, of near the same place; daughter of Hervey McCord.

C Kezia Parke, b. Oct. 28, 1810; d. July 2, 1885; m. March 19, 1833, Hon. John B. Rutherford, b. Nov. 28, 1805; d. Oct. 10, 1892. They had nine children, all born in or near Paxtang, Pa., and all have attended the Paxtang Presbyterian Church. The original home of the Rutherfords was Jedburgh, Scotland, where many of the name still reside. A representative of this family took up his residence in County Tyrone, Ireland, about the year 1689. The immigrant to America about 1728 or 1729 was Thomas Rutherford, a son of this representative. Thomas, soon after his arrival here, married the Scotch lassie for whom he had forsaken the home of his nativity, named Jean Murdock, born April 5, 1712. The Murdocks and Thomas resided in the vicinity of the Donegal Presbyterian Church, in Lancaster County, Pa., until 1744, when they removed to Derry Township, Dauphin County, Pa., where they resided until 1755, at which date they purchased and moved to the property or farm situate at what is now Paxtang Station, Swatara Township, Dauphin County, Pa., three miles east of Harrisburg, Pa. John Brisbin Rutherford was a great-grandson of Thomas and Jean through their son, John, and grandson, Samuel Rutherford. Here are the nine children of Hon. John B. Rutherford and Kezia Parke:

a Samuel Rutherford, died in infancy.

b Mary Lucinda Rutherford, b. March 10, 1835; m. Dec. 12, 1861, James McClure, who was b. March 8, 1824; d. July 22, 1897. Six children, all born near Glen Moore, Chester County, Pa.

c Jennie Rutherford McClure.

d Mary Parke McClure.

e Gertrude McClure.

f J. B. Rutherford McClure. All of Philadelphia, Pa.

c Eliza Jane Rutherford, b. May 8, 1837; m. Rev. Samuel Dickey.

Rev. Samuel Dickey was the second son of Rev. Ebenezer Dickey, D. D., and was born at Oxford, Pa., April 17, 1818, and died Jan. 14, 1884. With the exception of his college and seminary years he spent all his life in his native place, and at his decease was justly spoken of as the most influential citizen of the lower part of Chester County. He was graduated from Lafayette College in 1837, having had the advantage of residing while there with his uncle, Dr. George Junkin, the public-spirited and energetic founder and president of the college. Thence he proceeded to Princeton Seminary, where he took a post-graduate as well as the usual course. In 1841 he was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of New Castle and was unanimously called to be pastor of the Union Church, Colerain Township, Lancaster County, about seven miles from Oxford. Here he labored for nine years. Precious memories of his ministry survive among the people of his charge which, however, he was sorrowfully compelled to resign on account of ill health. In 1858 Mr. Dickey found congenial work as president of the Oxford National Bank. This office he held for nearly a quarter of a century, during which time the directors, as they said in their memorial minute "had the benefit of his wise counsel, untiring energy and great personal influence, whereby the bank has been safely guided through severe pecuniary crises and firmly established in the confidence of the business community." Mr. Dickey was, at the time of his death, a director of the Baltimore Central line of railways, and was superintendent and treasurer of the Peach Bottom railroad. He served for nine years as councilman of Oxford Borough; was trustee of Lincoln University and a member of the executive committee, and at the time of his death had been treasurer of the board for eighteen years, giving to the institution besides his many contributions, much valuable time, wise counsel, and gratuitous labor. Dr. Dickey was twice married, 1st to Eugenie, daughter of Henry Cazier, of New Castle, Delaware County. She died in 1862, leaving two daughters, Mrs. Sarah E. Hopkins and

Mrs. Mary I. Price. His second marriage was in 1868 to Jennie, daughter of Ex-Senator Captain John B. Rutherford, of Harrisburg, Pa., by whom he had three children:

H Kezia Fleming.

Henry Fleming, Jr., in after life of West Chester, was a son of John Fleming, Jr., and was born in Sadsbury Township. For many years he was acting magistrate, selected by common consent, less for sought-for popularity than for acknowledged private worth, strict integrity and inflexible character. When a young man he was a volunteer in the war with England in 1812-1814; was made captain of a company and marched to Canada with Gen. Brown; was captured and taken to Quebec where he remained a prisoner of war for eighteen months. He was one of the founders of the First Presbyterian Church, in West Chester, Pa., of which he was a pillar.

There is a current tradition that William Parke, brother of Arthur Parke, the founder of our branch of the Parke family in this country, who remained in the old Ballybegley home in 1720, in Ireland, had a great grandson, they called him here Irish-Johnny, who visited his kindred in this country about 1797. He became greatly infatuated with his third cousin, Letitia Parke, afterwards the wife of Henry Fleming, Esq. Rumor spread among Letitia's neighbors that Johnny was soon to be a Benedict, but he skipped out and returned to the old sod to an old flame, Margaret McKay, and married her. In 1827, Johnny being dead, Margaret, to sooth her grief, came over to visit her husband's kinsmen in America. She found Letitia Parke to be the wife of Henry Fleming, Esq., of West Chester, and that they were devoted Christians, eminent in character and usefulness, and founders and pillars of the First Presbyterian Church located there. With open arms they cordially welcomed the grief-stricken Margaret to partake of their hospitality.

F. George Washington Parke, Esq., b. Oct. 18, 1780; d. Feb. 25, 1860, was the owner and occupied the farm and mill property of his father, Joseph Parke, Esq., and was register of wills from 1842-1845, and a justice of the peace from 1828-1837. He lived the last of his days a retired life in the borough of Parkesburg, Pa. He m. 1st Mary Fleming, b. June 11, 1785; d. Feb. 17, 1817. They had six children:

D Joseph Maxwell Parke, b. Feb. 6, 1810; d. Feb. 18, 1898, was a prominent lawyer of Westminster, Carroll County, Md. He represented this county in the legislature of 1839-40. He was also a delegate to the constitutional convention of Maryland of 1851, and served nineteen years as register of wills of the same county. He became identified with the press of the county, having purchased the Democrat and Carroll County Republican, of which he remained the editor and publisher for eight years. His knowledge of testamentary law was probably more extensive than that of any member of the bar in his county. In fact, few if any lawyers in this state were as familiar with that branch of legal learning. He was also well equipped for the practice of other branches of the profession and for a number of years was a commissioner in chancery. Mr. Parke was one of the best known and highly venerated citizens of Carroll County. He was a man of uncompromising integrity of character and sincere piety. He was a member of Grace Lutheran Church, of Westminster, and until a late period, a teacher in the Sunday School. He was a man of noble presence and his venerable form was a conspicuous figure in the streets of Westminster for fifty-eight years. Until a very recent period he was a regular attendant at the morning and evening services of the church with which he was so long connected, and of the council, of which he was for many years the secretary. Mr. Parke was endowed with more than ordinary intellectual ability and was scrupulously conscientious in his opinions, which were always formed even in matters of minor importance, after the most careful investigation. He never jumped at conclusions, but when his opinion was once formed he was as immovable as a rock in maintaining it. His life was singularly pure and blameless in all its phases and relations with his fellow men, and its every act was based upon a conscientious conviction of duty. On April 2, 1835, Mr. Parke married Miss Amanda Motter, daughter of the late George Motter, of Manchester, Md. They had twelve children :

a Sarah Julia Parke, b. Feb. 16, 1837 ; d. May 30, 1853.

b Caroline Parke, b. Dec. 31, 1838 ; d. March 3, 1839.

c Frances Henrietta Parke, b. Dec. 25, 1839 ; m. April 18, 1860, Edwin Kramer Gernand. Five children :

a Adelaide Parke Gernand, b. Jan. 7, 1861 ; d. Sept. 13, 1884.

b Edwin Kramer Gernand, Jr., b. Oct. 29, 1871.

c Claude Seiss Gernand, b. Sept. 24, 1872.

d Joseph Emanuel Gernand, b. Sept. 4, 1868 ; d. Aug. 7, 1869.

e Frances Rebecca Gernand, b. Dec. 16, 1876 ; m. Loyal R. Aldus.

d George Motter Parke, b. Oct. 2, 1841 ; d. April 21, 1913.

About 1870 he became deputy register of wills under his father and remained connected with the register's office for twenty-eight years. No man ever filled the office more acceptably. He was thoroughly familiar with testamentary law, and was a most efficient and conscientious officer. He retired from the register's office in 1897, and soon afterwards entered on his duties as secretary and treasurer of the Westminster Deposit and Trust Company. That its duties were efficiently performed is evident by the gratifying success which has attended the enterprise. Mr. Parke was survived by his wife, Mary White Neale, married Jan. 25, 1870, who was a daughter of the late Abner Neale, and a first cousin of the late ex-President, Grover Cleveland. They had four sons, as follows:

a Francis Neale Parke, b. Jan. 6, 1871, attorney at law, of Westminster, Md. Unmarried.

H Rev. Samuel Parke, b. Nov. 25, 1778; d. Dec. 20, 1869; pursued his preparatory studies at the Brandywine Academy conducted by the Rev. Nathan Grier at the Forks of Brandywine; graduated from Dickinson College in September, 1809; was licensed by the Presbytery of New Castle, April 7, 1813; was ordained and installed pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of Slate Ridge, York County, Pa., and also of Centre Church, same county, giving the latter one-third of his time. Having ministered to both of these congregations about thirty years, he resigned the pastorate of the Center Church, but continued to occupy the pulpit of the Slate Ridge Church for forty years. He discharged the duties of the ministry with great fidelity until 1857, when, on account of the infirmities of age, he resigned. He married Nov. 8, 1814, Martha, daughter of the late Rev. Nathan and Susanna Smith Grier. Susanna Smith was a daughter of Col. Robert and Margaret Vaughan Smith, and granddaughter of John and Susanna Smith, Scotch pioneers, the founders of this very numerous branch of the Smith family in this country. Rev. Samuel and Martha Grier Parke had eight children:

A Susanna Parke, b. Dec. 27, 1815; d. Aug. 22, 1859. Unmarried.

c Anna Hasseltine Geiger, b. June 17, 1843.

C Martha Parke, b. April 27, 1819; d. March 24, 1888. Unmarried.

D Dr. Nathan Grier Parke, b. Dec. 16, 1820, was a son of the manse, his mother having been a daughter of the Rev. Nathan Grier and his father was the Rev. Samuel Parke. He pursued his preparatory studies at the Slate Ridge Academy and his collegiate at Jefferson College, where he graduated in Oct. 1840. His theological course was completed at Princeton, N. J., in 1839, graduating in the class of 1844, having previously been licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Donegal, April 19, 1843. Dr. Parke's ministerial work began on June 9, 1844, with three members of the Presbyterian faith in a little red school house in the village of Pittston, Luzerne County, Pa., giving half his time to Scranton and receiving a salary of one hundred dollars per year. In 1846 a substantial brick church building was erected in Upper Pittston, in which, on July 7, Dr. Parke was ordained as an evangelist and the new church was incorporated as the First Presbyterian Church, of Pittston, Pa., in which he was installed pastor on June 6, 1847, and over which congregation he continued as pastor for fifty-one years. In June, 1895, he resigned his pastorate, but his people insisted on his serving as pastor-emeritus, which mark of honor he held until his death, which occurred on June 28, 1903. Dr. Parke devoted sixty out of eighty-four years to ministerial work, to helping weak and fallen men to peace, happiness, purity and a higher life. He lived to see this part of the country redeemed from an unbroken wilderness, and flourishing towns and cities spring up, and his little church spread over a couple of counties, grow into scores of large and wealthy churches, and magnificent sacred edifices take the place of the school house and the humble homes where preaching services were first held. Not only in behalf of Presbyterians, but in the cause of all denominations, Dr. Parke has lent his valuable services. His name is beloved and revered by every denomination and sect in the two valleys. No one can compute the good this noble, brave and patriotic citizen, this pure, devoted and fervent servant of God has done for the upbuilding and spiritual good of Northeastern Pennsylvania. In 1867 Dr. Parke visited Europe as one of the representatives of the Old School Presbyterian Church of this country in the Assemblies of the Free Church, and of the United Presbyterian Church, of Scotland. The honor of D. D. was conferred on him by the college of Washington and Jefferson. He married, June 8, 1847, Ann Elizabeth Gildersleeve, born Sept. 25, 1822, granddaughter of Rev. Cyrus Gildersleeve, a Wilkes-Barre pastor of former years, and daughter of W. C. Gildersleeve, a Wilkes-Barre merchant. They had seven children:

The story of the Griers furnishes a notable example of the influence of pious parents upon their offspring. John Grier, with his brother Mathew, came to Bucks County, Pa., from the north of Ireland in 1732. He soon after married Agnes Caldwell. Like their Scotch ancestors, being strongly attached to the doctrines and institutions of the Presbyterian Church, they drilled them into the minds and hearts of their children, all of whom became worthy and useful members of society. These children, as far as the writer knows, were:

<sup>1</sup> Colonel Joseph Grier, who died Nov. 10, 1830, in his 80th year, and his wife, Ann, died March 11, 1826, in her 77th year. They removed from Bucks County, Pa., about 1785, and settled within the bounds of the Brandywine Congregation, of which he was a ruling elder for more than twenty years. Their only son, John Walker Grier, died March 25, 1861, in his 75th year, and his wife, Jane Grier, died July 16, 1858, in her 67th year. His theological studies began under his uncle, the Rev. Nathan Grier, and at Princeton Seminary, N. J. He conducted the Brandywine Academy as principal till the spring of 1822, when he resigned and assumed the principalship of the Chester County Academy, which he retained till 1826, when he was appointed by President John Quincy Adams a chaplain in the United States Navy. He was ordained in 1826 to the ministry by the Presbytery of Philadelphia when about to enter the Navy. His only surviving son, Rev. Mathew B. Grier, D.D., the well known senior editor of The Presbyterian, was ordained and installed pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of Ellicotts Mills, Md., by the Presbytery of Baltimore in Nov., 1847, and afterward accepted a call to the First Presbyterian Church, of Wilmington, N. C., from which charge his loyalty to his country compelled him to resign in 1862.

<sup>2</sup> John Grier died June 10, 1831, in his 75th year; m. Jane Hays, who died Feb. 27, 1850, in her 83rd year. They lived about seven miles from Doylestown, Bucks County, Pa., in their early life, but removed from there to Chester County in 1790, and settled on the farm of 412 acres near Brandywine Manor Church, now owned by B. C. Mitchell. They were the parents of ten children:

a Rev. John Hays Grier, b. in Bucks County, Pa., Feb. 7, 1788; licensed by the Presbytery of New Castle, April 7, 1813; installed pastor of Pine Creek and Great Island Churches, in Lycoming County, Pa., in 1814. Afterwards had charge of churches in Nipense Valley and at Newberry, devoting a half century to this ministerial work. He died Feb. 3, 1880, within four days of completing his 92nd year.

b Nancy Hays Grier, b. 1791, wife of Samuel Ralston, of West Nantmeal township, and mother of Rev. James Grier Ralston, D.D., for 32 years president of Oakland Female Institute, of Norristown, Pa. Samuel Ralston was an elder of Brandywine church for 29 years. He was a farmer.

g Maria Grier, wife of James G. Long and mother of Thomas S. Long, late pastor of the Bloomsburg Presbyterian Church in New Jersey, was b. July 29, 1803, d. Jan. 2, 1868. James G. Long was b. March 5, 1800, d. March 2, 1878. James Long and wife were farmers. He, as well as his son, James Long, were elders in the Coatesville Presbyterian Church.

h Martha Grier, m. ————— Hays.

i Isabella Grier, b. 1808; d. Feb. 2, 1890; m. John Harris Long, b. 1810, d. Feb. 29, 1852.

j Dr. Joseph F. Grier. He finished his medical studies in 1828 and practiced at home till the fall of 1837, when he removed to Lewisburg, Union County, Pa., where he continued till his death in February, 1908.

John Grier's wife, Jane Hays, was a daughter of John Hays, brother of Isabella Hays, who married Thomas Patton in 1754 and d. Oct. 6, 1811, aged 79 years.

<sup>3</sup> Rev. James Grier, born in 1750 and died Nov. 19, 1791, aged 41 years, was ordained in 1777 and settled in a church in Bucks County, Pa., and his only son, John Ferguson Grier, b. in 1784, settled at Reading, Pa., and organized the First Presbyterian Church, of that city, in which he was installed pastor, Nov. 23, 1814. He died Jan. 26, 1829.

a John Ralston, principal of the Rockville Academy, who was a ruling elder of the Brandywine Manor Church for 36 years and choir master there for more than 30 years. He died April 21, 1880.

b James Ralston, d. May 22, 1885, in the 82nd year of his age. He bore a name which has been honored and esteemed in old Brandywine Manor Church for several generations. The brothers, John and James Ralston, were farmers; each owned the half of the old Capt. James Ralston homestead at Rockville, Chester County, Pa.

c Christian Ralston, d. Jan. 2, 1884. Unmarried.

d Agnes Ralston, d. Sept. 8, 1875, in her 78th year; m. Rev. J. N. Grier, D.D.

<sup>5</sup> Nathan Grier, b. in September, 1760, was the youngest member of his family. He received his early training for the ministry from his older brother, Rev. James Grier, then entered the University of Pennsylvania in 1781, was ordained in 1783, and licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Philadelphia, in October, 1786. Received a unanimous call from the Brandywine Manor Presbyterian Church as the successor of Rev. John Carmichael in 1787, and was installed its pastor, Aug. 22, 1787. He died March 30, 1814, aged 56 years, six months. His wife, Susanna Smith Grier, died January 2, 1812. They were married Nov. 13, 1787, and had five children:

a Rev. Robert S. Grier, b. May 11, 1790, d. Dec. 28, 1865. Was pastor of the Emmittsburg and Piney Creek, Md., Presbyterian Churches for 51 years.

b Rev. J. N. C. Grier, D.D., b. June 8, 1792; d. Sept. 15, 1880. Was pastor of the Brandywine Manor Presbyterian Church for 54 years and seven months. The pastorates of father and son together extended over a period of 82 years. Dr. Grier was a man of great force of character, and this gave him a very strong influence in the community and secured for him a prominent and leading position among his ministerial brethren. In 1837, when the temperance reform began its onward movement he espoused its cause and brought to its advocacy all the courage, positiveness and determination of his character. He married Sept. 9, 1813, Nancy Ralston, who died Nov. 7, 1873, oldest daughter of Capt. James and Frances Ralston, leading members of his congregation.

c Nancy Grier, who married in 1809, Rev. Robert White, who was ordained and installed pastor of Fagg's Manor Presbyterian Church, Dec. 14, 1809, and continued its pastor until his death in September, 1835.

K Harriet Parke, b. 1796; m. Mathew Cochran. Three children:

A Joseph Cochran.

B Eliza Cochran.

C David Cochran.

Mathew Cochran and family also resided in Richmond, Ind., the two brothers having married two sisters. Here ends the record of descendants of Joseph Parke, the second son of John and Elizabeth McKnight Parke.

<sup>3</sup> John Parke (2), son of John and Elizabeth McKnight Parke, and grandson of Arthur and Mary Parke, d. Nov. 15, 1823, in the old homestead in the 84th year of his age. Upon attaining mature manhood he engaged extensively in farming interests and became a large and prosperous farmer. Politically he was a Federalist. He married in 1780, Ann Denny, who died June 3, 1820, in her 71st year. She was the daughter of William and Agnes Parker Denny and granddaughter of John Parker. Her brother, Major Ebenezer Denny, was a prominent officer in the Revolutionary War. Arthur Parke owned at the time of his decease, in January, 1739, a farm along the Susquehanna River in Cumberland County, Pa., which he willed to his son, Joseph Parke, who then resided on it. Ann's father, William Denny, removed from Chester County, Pa., to that vicinity in 1745. The Dennys and Parkes may have, in this way, become acquainted and related. Ann Denny Parke had a sister, Mary, who married Richard Parkinson, both of whom died in early life, survived by two small children, Ann and Margaret Parkinson. The former was taken by her aunt, Ann Parke, of Chester County, the latter by her uncle, John Officer, of Carlisle, Pa. They married brothers, Samuel and Robert Futhey. Agnew Futhey, banker, teacher in, and superintendent of the public schools, of Chester County, was the son of Ann, and Judge J. Smith Futhey, president judge of the Chester County Court for nine years, historian and lawyer of eminence, was a son of Margaret Futhey, John 2nd and Ann Denny Parke had five children.

A Elizabeth Parke, b. July, 1781, d. Dec. 13, 1829, in the 49th year of her age; m. Feb. 4, 1808, Thos. McClellan, b. Sept. 6, 1774; d. Dec. 18, 1834. He was a grandson of Robert McClellan, born about 1698, died 1741, the founder of his branch of the McClellan family in this country. He came to America with the Scotch emigrants from the Province of Ulster, North Ireland, between 1720 and 1725. He settled in Middletown Township, Chester (now Delaware) County. He was married twice, three children by his first wife:

Robert then married Elizabeth Ewing and they had seven children;

<sup>4</sup> James, m. Martha Caldwell, the parents of Colonel Joseph McClellan. James died in February, 1793, and Martha in November, 1793, and they are buried in Upper Octoraro Cemetery. Martha was a daughter of Henry Caldwell by his first wife, name unknown. James and Martha Caldwell, with their eight children, removed from Middletown Township, Chester (now Delaware) County, about the year 1770, into Sadsbury Township. They were substantial and industrious farmers. Col. Joseph McClellan was the oldest of their children. The brothers, James and Samuel McClellan, lived within less than one-half mile of each other in Sadsbury Township at the time of their first settlement there. After the death of Robert McClellan, his widow married Henry Caldwell, who died in 1758 after which event she made her home with her son, Samuel, in Newton Township and moved with him to his Sadsbury home in 1759 and soon after died there the same year.

<sup>5</sup> Thomas, d. in 1809; m. 1st Elizabeth ———; 2nd Janet Trimble, b. 1731. He belonged to the Chambersburg branch of the McClellan family.

<sup>7</sup> Samuel, b. in 1732; d. Dec. 9, 1807; m. Mary Lindsay, April 10, 1759, who d. June 19, 1777, aged 42 years. Samuel m. 2nd Ann Love, July 2, 1778; b. 1746; d. in July, 1842.

Samuel McClellan was a carpenter as well as the owner of a large and valuable farm.

Elizabeth McClellan was the oldest member of James and Margaret Ewing's family. Margaret, wife of William Lindsay, who bought the James Ewing homestead the year James died in 1740. 2nd, William Lindsay and wife were the parents of Mary Lindsay McClellan, the first wife of Samuel McClellan. 3rd, Jane. 4th, Rebecca, wife of John Cohoon. 5th, William. 6th, Thomas Ewing.

The following are the children of Samuel McClellan and his two wives and their descendants:

Samuel McClellan m. 2nd July 2, 1778, Ann Love, only daughter of John and Alse Love, b. about 1746; d. Feb. 7, 1842, in her 96th year. They had two children:

<sup>9</sup> Ann Love McClellan, b. April 15, 1782; d. Aug. 31, 1830; m. Feb. 29, 1816, James Boyd Stewart, b. April 3, 1779; d. Nov. 28, 1837; grandson of Walter Stewart. Samuel McClellan's second wife, Ann Love, the only daughter of John and Alse Love, belonged to a now widely extended branch of the Love family in this country. John Love, of Scotch-Irish origin, removed from the North of Ireland in 1725 and settled in West Fallowfield Township, Chester County, Pa., within the bounds of the Fagg's Manor Presbyterian Congregation. He was an elder of the church from the time of its regular organization in 1739 until his death in 1790, a period of 51 years. He attended the first Presbyterian Synod in 1730. He was born in February, 1706, and died aged 84 years, and his wife, Aise, died April 20, 1790. They had four children (1) John, of whom we know nothing; (2) Thomas Love, b. Jan. 28, 1739; d. Dec. 20, 1825; m. about 1767, Martha Guthrie, daughter of James Guthrie, of Scotch-Irish Presbyterian ancestry, whose family were:

<sup>8</sup> Marjorie, m. ——— Emmett; moved to Ohio about 1780.

James Guthrie owned between 600 and 700 acres of land on both sides of the Octoraro Creek in the immediate vicinity of Andrews Bridge, which spans the creek. Thomas Love was a second lieutenant in the Revolutionary War on the staff of General Samuel Cochran. The corner stone of the old homestead of Thomas Love, one mile south of Steelville, on the Octoraro Creek, still retains the inscription, "T. L., 1768." Thomas Love, like his father, was a man of earnest piety and was an elder in the Fagg's Manor Church for more than 60 years. Thomas and Martha Guthrie Love had four children, of whom we have some knowledge, namely: John, James, Robert and Ann.

<sup>1</sup> John Love, b. Dec. 6, 1768, in Chester County; d. Sept. 25, 1834, in McMinn County, Tennessee; m. Margaret Fleming, b. in Chester County, Pa., Sept. 17, 1777; d. May 12, 1841. Had seven children:

D Samuel R. Parke, b. Oct. 9, 1833; d. Jan. 1, 1899.

Samuel R. Parke was born in Highland Township, Chester County, Pa., a son of Arthur and Mary Reynolds Parke and was reared on his father's farm and received his early education in the public schools. He afterward attended Blair Hall, at Fagg's Manor, this county, graduating in 1852. He then devoted his attention to farming. He married, in 1858, Annie E. Martin, a daughter of Thomas Martin, of Londongrove Township. She died in 1862, survived by two sons, Arthur T. and William E. Parke. Mr. Parke then sold his farm and removed to Parkesburg, Pa., and engaged in the grain, coal and lumber business. This he successfully conducted until 1869, when he and others organized the private banking firm of Parke, Smith & Co., and began a general banking business. He was cashier until April 22, 1873, when he was elected president. In 1880 this bank became the Parkesburg National Bank and Mr. Parke was continued as president. He was continuously in the banking business for thirty years. On October 26th, 1882, he again married, wedding Miss Ida S. Wilson, a daughter of Amos G. Wilson. By this union he has two children, Mary R., married to Samuel Dodd, and Samuel R.

Jr. Mr. Parke was elected to the office of county surveyor for a term of three years, and also as burgess of Parkersburg Borough and justice of the peace. He was a member and deacon of the Upper Octoraro Church, and was also a trustee and superintendent of the Sunday School connected with this church. He also served as treasurer of the Parkersburg Iron Company. He was vice president and a director of the Parkersburg Water Company and a director in the Parkersburg Building and Loan Association. Mr. Parke died January 12, 1899 and his wife, Ida S. Wilson Parke, on March 16, 1903.

a Arthur T. Parke was b. Oct. 12, 1859, in Highland Township, Chester County, Pa. Was prepared for college in the Parkersburg Academy and entering Princeton College, took a full classical course, from which he was graduated in the class of 1879. He entered on the study of law in the Fall of 1882, taking a course of one year in Columbia Law School, in New York City, and afterwards studied with A. P. Reid, Esq., being admitted to the Chester County Bar in 1884, and immediately opened a law office at West Chester, Pa. Mr. Parke is a liberal Republican politically, and in religion a member and elder of the First Presbyterian Church, West Chester, Pa. He married Clara R. Chambers, of Londongrove Township, Chester County. They have four children:

- a Arthur T. Parke, Jr.
- b William Parke.
- c Eva Parke.
- d Elizabeth Parke.
- b Dr. William E. Parke.

Dr. Parke was graduated from Princeton College in 1883 and from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1886, and has been engaged in the practice of his profession ever since in the city of Philadelphia. Dr. Parke of 1739 North 17th Street, m. Nov. 6, 1918, Miss Grace Woods.

c Mary R. Parke, m. Samuel Dodd. Three children: Samuel R., William and Dorothy Randall Dodd. He is an electrician, of Strafford, Pa.

d Samuel R. Parke, Jr., b. 1893, of Harrisburg. Graduate of Princeton University, class of 1911; engineer in the Department of Health; m. March 1, 1916, Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Lauch, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

D Mary Parke, b. April 28, 1787; d. July 11, 1867; of West Fallowfield Township, now Highland; m. Nov. 2nd, 1803, Samuel Thompson, of Sadsbury Township, Chester County, Pa.; b. May 29, 1783; d. May 30, 1843. He was the son of Daniel Thompson, born in Scotland in 1760 and Rachel Woolman, of Chester County, who had children, John, Samuel, Jacob and others. Samuel and Mary, soon after their marriage, moved to Pittsburgh, Pa., and engaged in the merchant tailoring business. The situation of Pittsburgh at the head of navigation of the Ohio River and midway between the Atlantic seaboard and the west made that city the gateway of the west through which all travel and transportation had to pass. This stimulated business enterprise among the merchants. They shipped large quantities of goods west and established branch stores. In 1830, to meet the changed conditions of business, Samuel Thompson expanded his store from merchant tailoring to that of a general store. Later he moved to the corner of Market and Liberty streets and confined his store exclusively to dry goods and carpets. Samuel Thompson died May 30, 1843. He was an elder in the old Second Presbyterian church, in which his son-in-law, Judge Walter H. Lowrie, was also an elder. Washington McClintock, his son-in-law, and Robert D. Thompson, his son, succeeded to the store business in 1837, but dissolved partnership in 1844, Washington McClintock continuing the business alone and purchased in 1853 the store of his father-in-law's estate. In 1862 Oliver McClintock, a son, was taken into partnership, who in 1863, organized a stock company which was afterwards incorporated and continued till April 14, 1914, a period of 52 years, when the property was sold and the firm dissolved. Thus, for 107 years continuously, through three generations, the mercantile business was carried on by the same family so that this firm was, without doubt, the oldest firm in the city of Pittsburgh, Pa. Samuel Thompson and wife, Mary, were the parents of ten children:

She was a granddaughter of Walter Stewart, who died in April, 1778, and Margaret Andrew Stewart, who died Sept. 7, 1848, in her 38th year, the pioneer ancestors of the Stewarts who came to West Sadsbury Township, Chester County, in 1719 from County Derry, Ireland. Walter Stewart, in his will dated April 29, 1778, mentions his sons Andrew, James and Alexander, deceased, his two grandchildren, Walter and William, and his daughter-in-law Martha, wife of his son deceased, Alexander, who died in September, 1804. Walter Stewart was a farmer who lived on a large farm a mile north of Atglen borough, now in part of the Kauffman farm. He was a captain of one of the companies of a battalion of Continental troops that were ordered by Congress to be raised in Pennsylvania. Few men have the record for excellence of character that was possessed by Walter Stewart. They had three children:

1 James Stewart, who went west.

2 Alexander Stewart, who died prior to 1778.

3 Andrew Stewart, d. Dec. 26, 1804, in his 68th year; m. Nancy Boyd; d. April 6, 1814, in her 68th year. They had fourteen children:

Mr. Young is one of the large property owners of Parkesburg; director for many years and since June 6, 1916, president of the Parkesburg National Bank and one of our most influential and wealthy citizens.

b Fanny Young, b. June, 1849.

c Clara Young, b. Feb., 1852. All of Parkesburg, Pa.

d Rev. William Stewart Young, D.D., b. July 11, 1859, was educated in the Parkesburg public schools and Classical Institute, West Philadelphia Academy, West Chester State Normal School, and Lafayette College, where he was graduated in the class of 1883. Took special study in psychology in Lafayette College for two years. Mr. Young married May 11, 1883, Miss Jennette Lewis, who died in Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 26, 1887. Married 2nd, June 25, 1889, Adele Nichols. Occupied mission fields in Woodburn, Gewais, Turner, Pleasant Grove and Marion, Oregon, when, on account of failing health of his wife, he removed to Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 18, 1884. Engaged in pastoral work at Glendale Presbyterian Church for one year. During this year the Bayle Heights Church was organized and the first church building erected. In September, 1896, Mr. Young resigned his pastorate of these churches and became pastor, January, 1897, of a newly organized Presbyterian church named Knox. Remained pastor till 1907. In November, 1906, he assumed the superintendence of Hollenbeck Home for Aged and became secretary of its board of trustees. Served as trustee and secretary of trustees of Occidental College since its organization in 1887. Was acting president of the college from 1905-1906, securing during this time an endowment of $200,000. Was stated clerk of the Synod of California since October, 1892, and permanent stated clerk of Los Angeles Presbytery almost continuously since 1890. Received the honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Wabash College in June, 1901. Rev. William Stewart Young and Mrs. Adele Young were the parents of five children, all born in Los Angeles, Calif.:

a Arthur Nichols Young, b. Nov. 21, 1890; m. Nellie May Bailey, of Pasadena, Calif., June 11, 1915. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bailey. They were married in Hollenbeck Memorial Chapel by his father, William Stewart Young. Arthur Nichols Young graduated from Occidental College in 1910 and took the degree of doctor of philosophy in Princeton University in 1914, where he is now in the department of economics. They have one daughter, Elizabeth May, born in September, 1916.

c Frederick David Gibson, b. July 27, 1902.

E John Andrew Parke, b. 1827; d. 1902; farmer, near Parkesburg, Pa. Was one of six children of John 3rd and Fannie Stewart Parke, but the only son and last survivor of four successive generations of John Parke from 1706 to 1902. He was universally respected and loved by the people among whom he resided. He filled many positions of trust. The poor man in need of a bondsman was sure to hunt up John Andrew Parke. Many a dollar he lost in this sort of work, but he persisted to the close of his life in helping the poor. He could not refuse their appeal. He denied himself many of the ordinary comforts of life to do a kindly turn for others. Descended from a long line of careful, thrifty farmers, the phenomenal change to his life of pure beneficence is surprisingly great. Mr. Parke was one of nature's noblemen. His sweetness of disposition, his devotion to duty, his unswerving fidelity to truth and righteousness won for him the profoundest respect of all who knew him. The keynote of his character was manliness; from the cradle to the grave he was manly, and beneath the rough exterior of the man lay the loving tenderness of a woman. His life and its influence will survive and will be an inspiration to many. In his boyhood days, in middle life and in his old age he was always the same kindly, lovable man. He married Eliza Jane Latta, daughter of Rev. James Latta, who was pastor of Upper Octoraro church for forty years, from 1810-1850. John Andrew Parke was a ruling elder of this church for 34 years, from 1868-1902.

F Fannie Parke, b. in 1831, m. Robert L. McClellan, b. Aug. 20, 1815; d. Jan. 27, 1901. Fannie McClellan then resided with her nephew, Ward Parke Gibson, on a farm in Highland Township; d. Jan. 15, 1885. (See page 99).

Here ends—as far as the writer has been able to trace—the descendants of the three oldest children of John and Elizabeth McKnight Parke, namely: of Arthur 2nd., Joseph and John 2nd., grandchildren of Arthur and Mary Parke. Respecting the remaining six children and their descendants I can give but a brief and meagre account.

<sup>1</sup> 4th. William Parke, b. May 17, 1742; married a Miss Boyd and removed to York County, Pa. They had three children: Joseph, Elihu and Agnes Parke.

<sup>2</sup> 5th. Mary Parke, b. Feb. 24, 1744; m. in Chester County, John Kyle, and resided near Bealsville, Mifflin County, Pa., on a farm. They appear to have had but one child, Isaac Kyle. Her niece, Hannah Hershberger, a close neighbor, wrote Oct. 16, 1837, to her sister, Tabitha Parke, of Chester County, that Mary Kyle was then alive and well at the age of 93 years, seven months and 22 days.

<sup>3</sup> 6th. Elizabeth Parke, b. Feb. 26, 1748; d. before her father which occurred July 27, 1787. She married David Cowan, Sr., a son of Hugh Cowan, of Sadsbury Township. One of her children, David Cowan, Jr., was a near neighbor of his aunts, Mary Kyle and Jane McKnight, and cousin, Hannah Hershberger, in Mifflin County, Pa. David Cowan, Jr., married in June, 1795, Mary ——— and they had six children:

Jane Cowan, d. Dec. 13, 1810; Margaret Cowan, m. Jesse Cunningham; Susan, Eliza, Harriet and John Kyle Cowan.

<sup>4</sup> 7th. Jane Parke, b. Aug. 8, 1749; m. a McKnight. They had two children, James and William McKnight. The latter married Tabitha Stewart and they resided with her parents in Cincinnati, Ohio.

<sup>5</sup> 8th. David Parke, b. Jan. 22, 1751; d. in August 1798, of yellow fever in Philadelphia. He married Elizabeth Cowan, a daughter of Hugh Cowan. They had at least two children: John Parke, a grocery merchant, of Philadelphia, who died in 1797, of yellow fever, and Mathew Parke, who removed early in life to Olena, Ohio.

9th. Samuel Parke, born Sept. 15, 1756; died in infancy.
